

7TH ANNUAL COTTLE SUPER BOWL CANDY BOWL

Candy Grid Rules

Every score change is worth a candy bar, so we want a high scoring game. The person who starts the game with O-O wins a candy bar, and whoever has the score at the end of each quarter also wins and additional bar.

Example: Green Bay scores first (a field goal) so the score is 3-0 Green Bay. The person who has the square representing 3 for Green Bay and 0 for Pittsburgh (that happens to be Bailey) wins a candy bar. Then Pittsburgh scores a touchdown, making the score Pittsburgh: 6 Green Bay: 3. The person who has that score (Craig Cottle) wins. Then Pittsburgh kicks the extra point, so then the person that has the score 7-3 for Pittsburgh (Allison) would win. If the first quarter then ends, Allison would win again for having the "end of quarter" score.

Please note that the digit used is always the last number. So when the score becomes 10 - 14, the numbers zero and four are used.

We had several good names submitted for our new feature, but I think "Sweet Spot" goes along best with our whole candy themed game.

So thanks, Jacob for the name of our new game; you win a candy bar.

Irene also gets a candy bar for the simplified and improved name "Super Bowl Candy Bowl".

Enjoy!

For the new game, Sweet Spot:

The object of Sweet Spot is to be the person who most accurately predicts the final score of the game. This will probably have some ties. (Yay! More winners!) So this is how we will award prizes:

If there is a single winner with lowest points:

- ◆ 3 candy bars to the winner
- ◆ 1 candy bar to all those with the second lowest points

If 1st place is a tie:

- ◆ all the 1st place winners will receive 2 bars
- ◆ 1 bar to all those in 2nd place.

I think I have all the score predictions in here correctly; however, if you notice an error in your prediction, please let me know ASAP so I can fix it prior to Sunday.

HERE'S OUR GRID FOR THE SUPER BOWL XLV CANDY BOWL

Names were placed randomly on the grid as we received them. When it was complete, numbers were drawn. We ended up with 67 participants this year. As we promised, those who were prompt would receive an extra square and the first 33 respondents were rewarded. See those names below.

PITTSBURGH STEELERS

Congrats to Roger

the lucky player who randomly ended up with 0-0. You win a candy bar.

Also, since I always feel bad for the person who ends up with the 2-2 square, which is the least likely square to win...

Eve

who is the proud owner of 2-2 this year wins a candy bar, too.
